Health, Safety & Environment Charter

This charter sets out the core health, safety and environmental values that everyone working on the Inch Cape project should follow.

Health and safety

- Inch Cape's number one responsibility is safety and our common goal is zero accidents or incidents.
- Everyone is responsible for their own safety and the safety of those affected by their actions.
- When you see something unsafe, it is your responsibility to make it known or to intervene as appropriate.
- All work will be planned, hazards and risks identified and mitigation defined. Safe systems of work will be prepared and implemented.
- Accidents, incidents, and high potential near misses will be investigated and findings shared to prevent re-occurrence.

Environment and sustainability

- Inch Cape will achieve the highest standards of environmental management and will embed sustainability in all activities.
- The life cycle of materials will be considered through each phase of the project.
- Inch Cape will consistently monitor its environmental and sustainability performance and seek continuous improvement.
